Two generations, one homecoming

Next Gen	Legacy Alumni
Next Gen is part of the homecoming's forward-looking spirit: a place to arrive with curiosity, energy, and a desire to build meaningful connections across the snow sports community.	Legacy Alumni bring the depth of shared history and the relationships that make a homecoming feel personal, welcoming, and rooted in community.

The vision is bigger than bringing two groups into the same place. It is about creating room for each generation to be seen, heard, and connected—while making space for the stories, energy, and possibilities they share.

The bond between generations is what gives this gathering its meaning. Together, Next Gen and Legacy Alumni can experience a homecoming shaped by belonging, exchange, and a shared love of Black snow sports.

Romell Ward's perspective

Romell Ward's statement sits at the heart of this homecoming story. It helps frame the gathering as more than a seasonal experience: it is a chance for two generations to share the same setting, strengthen community bonds, and imagine what comes next together.

A flexible resort and après-ski experience

The format is flexible, allowing the homecoming to take shape across the resort experience and the moments that follow. Time on the mountain can sit alongside après-ski connection, giving attendees room to participate in the way that feels right for them.

Accommodation Spotlight: evo Hotel | Our Official Homecoming Host Hotel

Homecoming 2027 is taking over evo Hotel! The entire venue is reserved exclusively for the RMR, making evo the heart of the Homecoming experience. Stay where the energy, connections, and community come together January 6–10 in Salt Lake City, Utah.

The future of Black Snowsports

The future of Black snow sports is built through connection: by welcoming new energy, honoring the people who helped shape the path, and creating experiences where generations can move forward together.

This homecoming offers a meaningful setting for that future to take form. In Salt Lake City, the season becomes a shared space for community, belonging, and a vision that reaches across generations.

We look forward to gathering with Next Gen, Legacy Alumni, and everyone who believes in the power of a connected Black snow sports community.
